

TOKEN HOUSE

OVERVIEW

Token House is a Grade II listed red-brick Victorian building that was built in 1871 and formerly occupied by Cazanove – the Queen's stockbrokers.

The building boasts an impressive interior which matches the facade, including a grand central staircase with decorative domed ceiling and ornate chandelier.

The office accommodation ranges from one to 70 workstations as well as having three boardrooms and breakout space.

Tenants can tailor a space within the building to meet the changing needs of their team as they grow.
